REASONS TO CHOOSE PICTOU COUNTY

Hello from Healthy Pictou County!

Healthy Pictou County is a grassroots initiative supporting the attraction and retention of medical staff and students to our community. Learn more about our community to see if it's a fit for your lifestyle, and get in touch to have us help you navigate opportunities and explore our community. We're here to help you succeed!

Welcome to Pictou County

Comprised of the five towns of New Glasgow (location of the Aberdeen Hospital), Trenton, Stellarton, Westville, Pictou and the County of Pictou, and Pictou Landing First Nation, Pictou County is ideally situated along the Northumberland Strait. You'll find a welcoming community with hard-working and down-to-earth people, enjoying a balanced lifestyle.

“We’re so proud of the redevelopment of the Aberdeen Emergency Department. With access to state-of-the-art technology, we work collaboratively as a team of dedicated and caring healthcare professionals who put our community first.”

— Jennifer Sutherland,
RN, BScN, CCNP,
Health Services Manager

Located at 835 East River Road, New Glasgow, the Aberdeen Hospital is the regional acute care facility serving residents of Pictou County, offering primary and secondary services through inpatient, outpatient and community-based services and programs.

The services provided include:

- Anesthesiology
- Emergency Medicine
- Family Medicine
- General Surgery
- Internal Medicine
- Medical Oncology
- Obstetrics and Gynecology
- Ophthalmology
- Orthopedics
- Palliative Care
- Pediatrics
- Psychiatry
- Radiology

Emergency Department Redevelopment

Completed in 2017, the Emergency Department at the Aberdeen Hospital underwent an extensive redevelopment to improve the layout and workflow of the existing space. The Level 2 emergency department provides 24/7 access to emergency services.

Department highlights

All rooms are equipped with critical care equipment, and the 25,000-square-foot space features two isolation rooms and specialty rooms including two triage rooms and two trauma bays, with direct access to the helipad.

The all-weather ambulance bay has a two-way drive through, providing ease of access and transport of patients. Patient rooms are fully-accessible, single-occupancy, and are located around the exterior of the space with stations and staff in the centre for ease of visual monitoring and proximity to those in need of care. Staff of the Aberdeen Hospital’s Emergency Department have a team-centered, patient-focused approach to care, and are welcoming and accommodating to new staff and physicians. The unit is fully-secured, swipe-access entry with 24/7 security, and places patient-care at the forefront.

Primary Health Care

Pictou County has both established collaborative care practices including the East Side Health Centre, West Side Health Centre, Pictou West Health Centre, the Westville Medical Clinic, and traditional family medicine practices in Stellarton, New Glasgow, and Pictou. We also have the unique opportunity to partner with the Pictou Landing First Nation Health Centre to help address the healthcare needs of our First Nation community.

Aberdeen Hospital for 24 years

“Working in the emergency room at the Aberdeen Hospital can be very fast-paced with exposure to acute and often complex medical cases, but also very rewarding – our patients are very appreciative for the care they receive from our talented healthcare staff. Our department offers a supportive and collaborative environment, welcoming student learners, and access to consultants and specialists. Being originally from Pictou County, there have been many fulfilling opportunities for myself, my husband and our four children as we built our life here. This is a very special community.”

Student Learning

Interested in returning home, or are you new to Pictou County? We are here to help connect you with preceptors and mentors in the medical field. We will work to ensure that you feel welcomed and supported as you explore the medical field in Pictou County.

Get in touch with us for an observership at the hospital or in a practice, or even to casually grab a coffee with a mentor. We will also work to help guide you through the process of proper paperwork for practice, and connecting you with a medical professional.

Dalhousie Medical School’s North Nova Family Medicine Teaching Site – Opening July 2019

In 2018, it was announced that our community will be part of the new North Nova Family Medicine Teaching Site, through the Dalhousie Family Medicine Program. We’re thrilled that in July of 2019, Pictou County will welcome two residents to the Westville Medical Clinic, who will be responsible for a cohort of patients over the two-year program. This program will provide a regular stream of residents learning and practicing in the Nova Scotia Health Authority’s Northern Zone for years to come.

Our Foundations

In Pictou County, we are fortunate to have support from two very important institutions: The Aberdeen Health Foundation, and the Sutherland Harris Memorial Hospital Foundation. Both foundations provide generous support to health care programs annually and have financially contributed to Healthy Pictou County’s efforts to attract and retain medical professionals and students to the county.

Aberdeen Health Foundation

The Aberdeen Health Foundation was established in 1986 to support enhanced medical equipment and education for staff at the Aberdeen Hospital. While this remains the central focus, the Foundation has expanded its funding priorities in recent years to include mental health and community-based initiatives that promote population health.

The Aberdeen Health Foundation has invested just under $30 million to enhance health care in Pictou County since its inception. The organization’s $1-1.5 million annual investment is funded primarily through income generated by endowed funds. The Foundation is dedicated to directing resources to opportunities most likely to have a positive, long-term impact on the health of our community. For updates, news and to learn more about the Aberdeen Health Foundation, please visit aberdeenhealthfoundation.com

Sutherland Harris Memorial Hospital Foundation

The Sutherland Harris Memorial Hospital Foundation (SHMHF) was established in 1993, with its main focus and emphasis being to support the Sutherland Harris Memorial Hospital (SHMH). Generally, one half of the foundation’s yearly funds are designated to SHMH requests such as providing Wi-Fi to the Restorative Care Unit, offering to help with retention and expansion of the dialysis unit, and purchasing new, key equipment for the physiotherapy department.

The SHMHF has provided financial assistance to the Bright Smiles dental project, and assisted with a wheelchair lift and hearing loop system at the deCoste Performing Arts Centre, among many other projects. The Foundation also supports students at Pictou Academy and Northumberland Regional High School who are entering health-related fields in university with a bursary/grant program.

An idyllic beachfront property; an executive home; a classic charmer; a new-build; or lots of acreage; Pictou County offers a variety of affordable, beautiful homes at a fraction of the cost elsewhere. We boast safe communities where we look after one another.

Satisfy your cravings

Pictou County is home to a variety of offerings from high-end dining, pubs, restaurants, cafés, and some of the best diners in the province. International tastes like Syrian, Korean and Japanese cuisine, home-cooked meals, and healthy options are just a phone-call or a short drive away. Looking for fresh seafood? Look no further. With the ocean as our front yard, you won't go hungry here.

Unique Pictou County and East Coast specialty tastes

The East Coast of Canada is known for its unique and world-famous tastes, and Pictou County is no exception. Take your taste buds on tour and indulge in fresh seafood like lobsters caught that day, mussels or scallops, or try our Pictou County pizza – a large slice made with our iconic 'brown sauce' – we guarantee you will be asking for seconds.

We love local, and you will too!

We are proud of the many local products developed and prepared here in Pictou County. Favourite spots to find local includes the New Glasgow Farmers Market and other markets and businesses offering year-round opportunities to enjoy and purchase locally made goods and wares.

Proudly Pictou County

Pictou County is also where many regionally, provincially, and nationally successful businesses have started including Sobeys, Advocate Printing and Publishing, Knoydart Cheese, Caldera Distillery, Seafoam Lavender Farm, Velsoft, and Nova Scotia Spirit Company.

“I’m originally from Cape Breton and love calling Pictou County home for me and my family. This is a safe community and is a wonderful place to raise my two boys. At work, I feel that we have a supportive environment where we respect one another and understand each other’s roles. The healthcare community in Pictou County is very caring and close - I like that when I pick up the phone, I know who’s on the other end of the line.”

Cycling on the Jitney Trail in Pictou

Picture yourself actually being home for dinner with your family, heading to the beach on your lunch hour or, in the summer, catching some of the daylight to spend the early evening doing what you enjoy – it's possible in Pictou County with short commutes and low traffic. Our community is also bike-friendly, offering routes for active transportation.

We proudly offer a wide range of sports, music and other programs to help you and your family flourish, both recreationally or through competitive programming and opportunities, some of which you'd typically find in larger urban settings.

A supportive and extensive education community – from preschool to post-secondary

Pictou County is part of the Chignecto-Central Regional Centre for Education (CCRCE) – Celtic Family of Schools.

We have a passionate teaching community, housing some of the best schools with opportunities in French Immersion and International Baccalaureate Diploma (IB) programs. There are also opportunities for families to seek private school education for their children.

In Stellarton you'll find the Nova Scotia Community College (NSCC) Pictou Campus offering a variety of post-secondary programs and trades, including online classes and courses.

A 37-minute drive to Bible Hill will take you to Dalhousie's Agricultural College (referred to as DAL AC).

Just a 45-minute drive down the highway is St. Francis Xavier University, one of the top-ranked undergraduate schools in the country. When in Pictou County, you'll likely cross paths with those bearing the 'X-ring', and many who either work or currently study and commute to the university or work in Antigonish.

Opportunities and support for all ages and abilities

For families with special needs, our community provides a supportive environment with a variety of resources and connections including:

- Autism Nova Scotia – Pictou County Chapter
- Summer Street Industries which provides programming and employment opportunities for adults with intellectual disabilities
- Highland Community Residential Services (HCRS), which is dedicated to the creation and growth of homes, programs, and support networks with people who have intellectual disabilities or mental health challenges
- CHAD Transit, a community-based accessible transportation service for all residents of Pictou County.

“I love the ability to treat all ages, from newborn babies to the elderly, and practice full-service family medicine. This community is the perfect size for practicing family medicine: it's small enough so that you have the opportunity to practice full-scope family medicine, but big enough that we have specialty back-up when needed. On the personal side, I appreciate the excellent schools and the opportunities both in recreation and culture available to me and my family. What's the best part about living in Pictou County? Short commute times = more time with my family, and there's an excellent cost of living.”

We are becoming an increasingly more diverse community thanks to the ongoing efforts and leadership from organizations and businesses throughout our community. One group is the Multicultural Association of Pictou County, who work to connect cultures in our community, through education, shared understanding, awareness and social events, including a pinnacle event of the Multicultural Festival celebrating and sharing our cultural diversity.

Pictou County is also proudly home to many newcomers and families who have found a place with us thanks to organizations like Pictou County Safe Harbour, Warm Hearts, and Communities Assisting Refugees Now (CAiRN), focused on welcoming and settling refugees in our communities.

The Pictou-Antigonish Library New Glasgow Branch, in partnership with the Pictou County Chamber of Commerce, created the Newcomers

Welcome Centre, to provide a welcoming space and collect information for all newcomers to settle, navigate, and thrive in their new community.

The Pictou-Antigonish Regional Library also has branches in Pictou, Trenton, River John, Stellarton, and Westville, hosting a variety of unique and engaging community events and activities.

We're proudly home to many support and advocacy organizations such as the Pictou County Rainbow Association, the Pictou County Sexual Assault and Resource Centre, the Pictou County Sexual Health Centre, and MORPH Pictou County.

Churches and places of worship

Finding a church or a place of worship is an important factor when considering a new community and here in Pictou County, we have a variety of religions, groups and institutions. Some individuals and families may wish to travel to neighboring communities outside of Pictou County to worship.

Recently our community welcomed the opening of a new Masjid in Trenton, under the auspices of Islamic Association of Nova Scotia.

“After living in Toronto we were excited for the opportunity to move back to the Maritimes. We were seeking employment opportunities but also a community in which to raise our family. Pictou County has made it easy for us to develop a social network and meet new people. We enjoy local amenities such as the Farmers Market, Wellness Centre, festivals and restaurants. We have found numerous opportunities to foster the growth and development of our children. Although neither of us grew up here, we are happy to call Pictou County home.”

Thinking of starting your own business?

Pictou County is always open for business, offering a skilled workforce, proximity to post-secondary institutions like the Nova Scotia Community College – Pictou Campus, Dalhousie Agricultural College, and St. Francis Xavier University, and a culture supportive of businesses and organizations that want to see you thrive.

First-time employment

Have children looking for their first jobs or work experience? Pictou County is home to many businesses and organizations offering part-time and first-time job experience.

Spousal employment and volunteering

Moving to a new community is a big decision and one with many factors including employment opportunities for your spouse or children. Healthy Pictou County can work with your spouse to explore employment or volunteer opportunities.

In New Glasgow, you'll find Nova Scotia Works: Career Connections. They are an excellent resource with a pulse on career options and the workforce, offering free employment services ranging from job search assistance with a career counselor and access to the latest labour market information.

“The world-class equipment and cutting-edge technology I have access to here in rural Nova Scotia at the Aberdeen Hospital is on par with anything that I’ve practiced with all over the world. On the personal side, opportunities like Ultimate Frisbee and Pulse Pictou County events allowed my wife and I to quickly integrate in the community and make close friends. My wife was also able to further her education just a short commute in neighbouring Antigonish, couple that with us being able to find an affordable home close to the hospital, and the recent establishment of a mosque, we’re very happy to call Pictou County home.”
